

Jabra – Serving the Public Sector

Jabra delivers world-class audio device solutions for the Healthcare sector

The Healthcare sector have high standards. Procurement and IT departments need to purchase cutting-edge communications technology that is robust and reliable, from a manufacturer that understands the requirements within Healthcare.

Jabra understands what it means to deliver innovation and partnership – and we've been doing it for 150 years.

Jabra and our Healthcare sector expertise

Jabra has a legacy of innovation, having launched the first Bluetooth® headset, the first wireless headset and a host of other new-to-market technologies. We are the only company in the sound solutions sector that offers consumer, professional and medical-grade quality.

We understand sound and the human ear better than anyone in our industry, and this knowledge touches everything we do.

We understand healthcare security and safety

- Jabra products are available on the majority of Healthcare purchasing frameworks
- For those that require digital security, particularly with wireless devices, Jabra wireless headsets employ category-standard 64-bit or 128-bit* DECT encryption, making sure that sensitive healthcare information is kept safe and secure
- Jabra's wireless solutions operate using the latest DECT and Bluetooth® technology so they won't interfere with medical equipment or other wireless devices in your office

* Device dependent

We understand partnering

- Jabra are committed to collaborating with leading telephony and UC providers to ensure certified and compatible audio devices for quick and easy plug-and-play installation
- Jabra support a network of UK and Irish Public Sector channel partners to allow you to purchase from your preferred supplier
- Our Account Manager and Customer Services teams can support your new device roll-out to ensure your staff start using the technology immediately and efficiently
